About Flâneurs: In 2010 a friend of Jenna's was the victim of a violent attack, shocked to discover there were bystanders at the scene, Jenna created Fa neursin an attempt to explore why we choose to intervene or not and asks whether 'one punch is enough' to provoke an intervention. Fa neursis a new piece of theatre that explores the nature of violence in our cities and attempts to deconstruct the 'bystander effect'.
"the larger the crowd the less likely it is than anyone will intervene."
